

POLICING DIALOGUES

An Exploration of Neighbourhood Relations of Power

By What's the Story? Collective

Preview Tuesday 14th September 2010 6-8pm
Exhibition continues until 23rd October 2010
Monday to Saturday 10-5 at The LAB

The LAB brought to you by Dublin City Council presents

POLICING DIALOGUES

An Exploration of Neighbourhood Relations of Power

By What's the Story? Collective

Preview Tuesday 14th September 2010 6-8pm

Exhibition continues until 23rd October 2010

Monday to Saturday 10-5 at The LAB

Further information:

The LAB,
Dublin City Council Arts Office,
Foley Street, Dublin 1

T 01222 7850

E artsoffice@dublincity.ie

www.thelab.ie

Policing Dialogues is a six week residency at The LAB by What's the Story? Collective. It will include a public exhibition of film and installation based on young people's experiences of power and policing in Dublin South Central District as well as an extensive programme of workshops, dialogues and meetings. This creative and learning residency is aimed at all audiences but particularly at critical thinkers, policy makers, young people and those who work with them. An Garda Síochána have also agreed to participate in the programme and crucially, the learning from this process will directly inform the content of a groundbreaking new training scheme for Gardai, aimed at more constructive interactions with young people.

What's the Story? Collective are an interdisciplinary group of young adults, volunteer youth leaders, community youth workers and an artist who have been exploring issues of power and policing for a number of years.

The Collective are:

Nicola Whelan
Jonathan Myers
Jamie Hendrick
Garrett Kenny
Nichola Mooney
Michael Byrne
Fiona Whelan

Gallery will be closed for a private event on 29th/30th September 2010

What's the Story? Collective will be in conversation with Vagabond Reviews, The LAB, Tues 19th Oct 11am-1pm

What's the Story? is a project of artist
Fiona Whelan & The Rialto Youth Project.

www.section8.ie

